Compiler's Preface

Next to local vital records, the best source of genealogical data about specific individuals is the federal decennial census. At the present time there is no state-wide index to the 1870 Ohio federal census. With this in mind the 1870 Williams County, Ohio, Federal Census including a surname index was chosen to be transcribed into manuscript form township by township by the Williams County Genealogical Society to serve as a useful tool in family research.

The 1870 federal census for Williams County, Ohio, was extracted from National Archives Microfilm Roll #1282, housed at the Bryan Public Library, Bryan, Ohio. The following information is included in this census extraction:

1. Page number written by census taker found at the top left of each microfilm frame, the date of enumeration, the township, and the nearest post office for residents on each microfilm page.
2. Capitalized surname preceded by an asterick * for head of household, followed by lower case first name and initial, if given, for each person residing in the household; other surnames of those living within the household are capitalized also, but only the head of household is preceded by the asterick.
3. Age, sex, occupation/trade of each person given; the color of residents in Brady Township was white; therefore, it was decided to delete that information which would be an unnecessary repetition; in the case of children, the census taker may have listed "at home" or "attended school".
4. Householders possessing a valued real estate are indicated by the symbol r; householders possessing valued personal property are indicated by the symbol p; money values can be found by a personal check of the microfilm itself.
5. An individual's birthplace by state or country is listed by abbreviation (see key to abbreviations).
6. Brady Township was enumerated on microfilm pages (1-29) with West Unity listed as the nearest post office; the census taker, D.C. Baxter, then began page numbering again for the Village of West Unity which was found on microfilm pages (1-14).
7. A surname index is included with the surname of not only the heads of household but also those listed within the house whose surname is different from the head; all surnames are followed by the page number and the code BA for Brady Township or WU for the Village of West Unity. When using this please check the entire census page as some surnames are found in multiple spots.

8. An alphabetical list is included of children born in the 12 months prior to the 1870 census, the page number on which is found, and the month of birth. This is followed by an alphabetical list of marriages which were indicated on the census form having taken place in the 12 months prior to the census enumeration.

If an indivudal wishes to take a personal look at the census roll, he/she can find additional information not listed here which includes: physical impairments, whether parents were foreign born, whether the individual attended school during the census year, and whether the enumerated males were eligible to vote. This transcription of the census is not to be considered a substitute for looking at the actual microfilm roll.

The microfilm census roll for Brady Township was difficult to read in spots. In all cases the surnames were checked with other sources to make sure the transcription was correct. These other sources were: list of personal property tax payers of Brady Township, 1867; Williams County, Ohio, Atlases, 1864 & 1874; biographical sketches within several county histories; and, Williams County, Ohio Marriages, Volumes I-III (1824-1868). There were some surnames that were obviously misspelled by the census taker; therefore, family researchers should be careful to check various surname spellings.

Aside from the obvious family data that can be gleaned from this census, we found the following occupational statistics to be of interest in regard to Brady Township:

216	Farmers	4	Wagonmasters
12	Retail merchants	4	Milliners
12	Boot/shoemakers	3	Tailors
11	Carpenters	3	Physicians
10	Retail clerks	3	Tinsmen
7	Cabinetmakers	3	Harnessmakers/carriage trimmers
7	Blacksmiths	2	House and carriage painters
6	Teachers	2	Tanners
5	Millers	2	Sawmillers
4	Grocers/helpers

There was one person who fulfilled the occupation/trade for each of the following: wheelwright, brickmaker, stonemason, butcher, druggist, plasterer, traveling agent for notions store, teamster, photographer, mail carrier, dentist, horse farrier, hotel keeper, cooper, engineer, carder(cloth dryer), moulder, machinist, stockbuyer, jeweler/watchmaker, lawyer,seamstress, Methodist minister, and Presbyterian minister.

Compiler's Preface

Next to local vital records, the best source of genealogical data about specific individuals is the federal decennial census. At the present time there is no state-wide index to the 1870 Ohio Federal Census. With this in mind the 1870 Williams County, Ohio, Federal Census including a surname index was chosen to be transcribed into manuscript form township by the Williams County Genealogical Soceity to serve as a useful tool in family research.

The 1870 federal census for Williams County, Ohio was extracted from National Archives Microfilm Roll # 1282, housed at the BryanPublic Library, Bryan, Ohio. The following information is included in the census extraction:

1. Page number written by the census taker found at the top left of each microfilm frame, the date of enumeration, the township, and the nearest post office for residents on each microfilm page.

2. Capitalized surname preceded by an asterick * for head of household, followed by lower case first name and initial, if given, for each person residing in the household; other surnames of those living within the household are capitalized also, but only the head of household is preceded by the asterick.

3. Age, sex, occupation/trade of each person given; the color of residents in Bridgewater Township was white, therefore it was decided to delete that information which would be an unnecessary repetition; in the case of children, the census taker may have listed "at home" or "attended school".

4. Householders possessing a valued real estate are indicated by the symbol r; householders possessing valued personal property are indicated by the symbol p; money values can be found by personal check of the microfilm itself.

5. An individual's birthplace by state or country is listed by abbreviation (see key to abbreviations).

6. A surname index is included with the surname of not only the heads of household but also those listed within the household whose surname is different from the head; all surnames are followed by the page number and the code BR for Bridgewater Township. When using this please check the entire census page as surnames are found in multiple spots.

7. An alphabetical list is included of children born in the 12 months prior to the 1870 census, the page number on which each is found, and the month of birth. This is followed by an alphabetical list of marriages which were indicated on the census form having taken place in the 12 months prior to the census enumeration.

If an individual wishes to take a personal look at the census roll, he/she can find additional information not listed here which includes: physical imnpairments, whether parents were foreign born, whether the individual attended school during the census year, and whether the enumerated males were eligible to vote. This transcription of the census is not to be considered a substitute for looking a the actual microfilm roll.

The microfilm census roll for Bridgewater Township was difficult to read in spots. In all cases the surnames were checked with other sources to make sure the transcription was correct. These other sources were: list of personal property taxpayers of Bridgewater Township, 1867; Williams County, Ohio Atlases, 1864 and 1874; biographical sketches within several county histories; and, Williams County, Ohio Marriages, Volumes I-III (1824-1868). There were some surnames that were obviously misspelled by the census taker; therefore, family researchers should be careful to check various surnname spellings.

Aside from the obvious family data that can be gleaned from this census, we found the following occupational statistics to be of interest in regard to Bridgewater Township:

243	Farmers	2	Domestic Servants
15	Carpenters	2	Physicians
15	School Teachers	2	Saddlers
6	Sawmill Workers	2	Shoemakers

Compiler's Preface

Next to local vital records, the best source of genealogical data about specific individuals is the federal decennial census. At the present time there is no state-wide index to the 1870 Ohio federal census. With this in mind the 1870 Williams County, Ohio, Federal Census including surname index was chosen to be transcribed into manuscript form township by township by the Williams County Genealogical Society to serve as a useful tool in family research.

The 1870 federal census for Williams County, Ohio was extracted from National Archives Microfilm Roll #1282, housed at the Bryan Public Library, Bryan, Ohio. The following information is included in this census extraction:

1. Page number written by census taker found at the top left of each microfilm frame, the date of the enumeration, the township, and the nearest post office for residents on each microfilm page.
2. Capitalized surnames preceded by an asterick * for head of householid, followed by lower case first name and initial, if given, for each person residing in the household; other surnames of those living within the household are capitalized also, but only the head of household is preceded by the asterick *.
3. Age, sex, occupation/trade of each person given; the color of residents in Center Township was white; therefore, it was decided to delete that information which would be an unnecessary repetition; in the case of children, the census taker may have listed "at home".
4. Householders possessing a valued real estate are indicated by the symbol r; householders possessing valued personal property are indicated by the symbol p; money values can be found by a personal check of the microfilm itself.
5. An individual's birthplace by state or country is listed by abbreviation (see key to abbreviations).
6. A surname index is included with the surname of not only the heads of household but also those listed within the house whose surname is different from the head; all surnames are followed by the page number of the microfilm page within Center Twp. When using this please check the entire census page as some surnames are found in multiple spots.
7. An alphabetical list is included of children born in the 12 months prior to the 1870 census, the page number on which it is found, and the month of the birth. This is followed by an alphabetical list of marriages which were indicated on the census form having taken place in the 12 months prior to the census enumeration.

If an individual wishes to take a personal look at the census roll, he/she can find additional information not listed here which includes: physical impairments, whether parents were foreign born, whether the enumerated males were eligible to vote, and whether the individual attended school during the census year. This transcription of the census is not to be considered a substitute for looking at the actual microfilm roll.

The microfilm census roll for Center Township was difficult to read in spots. In all cases the surnames were checked with other sources to make sure the transcription was correct. These other sources were: list of personal property owners of Center Township, 1867; Williams County, Ohio, Atlases, 1864 & 1874; biographical sketches within several county histories; and, Williams County, Ohio Marriages, Volumes I-III (1824-1868). There were some surnames that were obviously misspelled by the census taker; therefore, family researchers should be careful to check various surname spellings.

Aside from the obvious family data that can be gleaned from this census, I found the following occupational statistics to be of interest in regard to Center Township:

394	Farmers	4	Lawyers
18	Domestic servants	3	Retail merchants
16	Teachers	3	Ministers
12	Carpenters	3	Railroaders
7	Blacksmiths	2	Plasterers
5	Shoemakers	2	Coopers
		2	Physicians

There was one person who fulfilled the occupation/trade for each of the following: ditchdigger, milliner, artist, weaver, wagonmaker, harnessmaker, welldigger, stonemason, and tailor.

Compiler's Preface

Next to local vital records, the best source of genealogical data about specific individuals is the federal decennial census. At the present time there is no state-wide index to the 1870 Ohio Federal Census. With this in mind the 1870 Williams County, Ohio, Federal Census including a surname index was chosen to be transcribed into manuscript form township by township by the Williams County Genealogical Soceity to serve as a useful tool in family research.

The 1870 federal census for Williams County, Ohio was extracted from National Archives Microfilm Roll # 1282, housed at the Bryan Public Library, Bryan, Ohio. The following information is included in the census extraction:

1. Page number written by the census taker found at the top left of each microfilm frame, the date of enumeration, the township, and the nearest post office for residents on each microfilm page.

2. Capitalized surname preceded by an asterick * for head of household, followed by lower case first name and initial, if given, for each person residing in the household; other surnames of those living within the household are capitalized also, but only the head of household is preceded by the asterick.

3. Age, sex, occupation/trade of each person given; the color of residents in Florence Township was white, therefore it was decided to delete that information which would be an unnecessary repetition; in the case of children, the census taker may have listed "at home" or "attended school".

4. Householders possessing a valued real estate are indicated by the symbol r; householders possessing valued personal property are indicated by the symbol p; money values can be found by personal check of the microfilm itself.

5. An individual's birthplace by state or country is listed by abbreviation (see key to abbreviations).

6. A surname index is included with the surname of not only the heads of household but also those listed within the household whose surname is different from the head. When using this please check the entire census page as surnames are found in multiple spots.

7. An alphabetical list is included of children born in the 12 months prior to the 1870 census, the page number on which each is found, and the month of birth. This is followed by an alphabetical list of marriages which were indicated on the census form having taken place in the 12 months prior to the census enumeration. There were no marriages listed in this census for Florence Township.

If an individual wishes to take a personal look at the census roll, he/she can find additional information not listed here which includes: physical imnpairments, whether parents were foreign born, whether the individual attended school during the census year, and whether the enumerated males were eligible to vote. This transcription of the census is not to be considered a substitute for looking at the actual microfilm roll.

The microfilm census roll for Florence Township was difficult to read in spots. In all cases the surnames were checked with other sources to make sure the transcription was correct. These other sources were: list of personal property taxpayers of Florence Township, 1867; Williams County, Ohio Atlases, 1864 and 1874; biographical sketches within several county histories; and, Williams County, Ohio Marriages, Volumes I-III (1824-1868). There were some surnames that were obviously misspelled by the census taker; therefore, family researchers should be careful to check various surnname spellings.

Aside from the obvious family data that can be gleaned from this census, we found the following occupational statistics to be of interest in regard to Florence Township:

279	Farmers
14	Day Laborers
11	Carpenters
8	Domestic Servants
6	Blacksmiths
6	Gristmillers
6	Merchants
6	School Teachers
5	Workers in Sawmill
5	Shoemakers
4	Factory Workers
3	Physicians
2	Milliners
2	Coopers
2	Cabinet Makers
2	Saddler/Harness Makers

There was one person who fulfilled the occupation/trade for each of the following: tanner, seamstress, stonemason, plasterer, grocer, lawyer, baker, brickmaker, and town pauper.

Compiler's Preface

Next to local vital records, the best source of genealogical data about specific individuals is the federal decennial census. At the present time there is no state-wide index to the 1870 Ohio Federal Census. With this in mind the 1870 Williams County, Ohio, Federal Census including a surname index was chosen to be transcribed into manuscript form township by the Williams County Genealogical Soceity to serve as a useful tool in family research.

The 1870 federal census for Williams County, Ohio was extracted from National Archives Microfilm Roll # 1282, housed at the BryanPublic Library, Bryan, Ohio. The following information is included in the census extraction:

1. Page number written by the census taker found at the top left of each microfilm frame, the date of enumeration, the township, and the nearest post office for residents on each microfilm page.

2. Capitalized surname preceded by an asterick * for head of household, followed by lower case first name and initial, if given, for each person residing in the household; other surnames of those living within the household are capitalized also, but only the head of household is preceded by the asterick.

3. Age, sex, occupation/trade of each person given; the color of residents in Jefferson Township was white, therefore it was decided to delete that information which would be an unnecessary repetition; in the case of children, the census taker may have listed "at home" or "attended school".

4. Householders possessing a valued real estate are indicated by the symbol r; householders possessing valued personal property are indicated by the symbol p; money values can be found by personal check of the microfilm itself.

5. An individual's birthplace by state or country is listed by abbreviation (see key to abbreviations).

6. A surname index is included with the surname of not only the heads of household but also those listed within the household whose surname is different from the head. When using this please check the entire census page as surnames are found in multiple spots.

7. An alphabetical list is included of children born in the 12 months prior to the 1870 census, the page number on which each is found, and the month of birth. This is followed by an alphabetical list of marriages which were indicated on the census form having taken place in the 12 months prior to the census enumeration.

If an individual wishes to take a personal look at the census roll, he/she can find additional information not listed here which includes: physical imnpairments, whether parents were foreign born, whether the individual attended school during the census year, and whether the enumerated males were eligible to vote. This transcription of the census is not to be considered a substitute for looking a the actual microfilm roll.

The microfilm census roll for Jefferson Township was difficult to read in spots. In all cases the surnames were checked with other sources to make sure the transcription was correct. These other sources were: list of personal property taxpayers of Jefferson Township, 1867; Williams County, Ohio Atlases, 1864 and 1874; biographical sketches within several county histories; and, Williams County, Ohio Marriages, Volumes I-III (1824-1868). There were some surnames that were obviously misspelled by the census taker; therefore, family researchers should be careful to check various surnname spellings.

Aside from the obvious family data that can be gleaned from this census, we found the following occupational statistics to be of interest in regard to Jefferson Township:

331	Farmers
20	Domestic Servants
19	Carpenters
8	School Teachers
3	Wagonmakers
2	Merchants
2	Physicians
2	Shoemakers

There was one person who fulfilled the occupation/trade for each of the following: broommaker, agent for shoemaker, butcher, Presbyterian minister, plasterer, lawyer, dressmaker, grocer, sawmill worker, hotel keeper, landlandy, stock buyer, and harness maker.

Compiler's Preface

Next to local vital records, the best source of genealogical data about specific individuals is the federal decennial census. At the present time there is no state-wide index to the 1870 Ohio federal census. With this in mind the 1870 Williams County, Ohio, Federal Census including surname index was chosen to be transcribed into manuscript form township by township by the Williams County Genealogical Society to serve as a useful tool in family research.

The 1870 federal census for Williams County, Ohio was extracted from National Archives Microfilm Roll #1282, housed at the Bryan Public Library, Bryan, Ohio. The following information is included in this census extraction:

1. Page number written by census taker found at the top left of each microfilm frame, the date of the enumeration, the township, and the nearest post office for residents on each microfilm page.
2. Capitalized surnames preceded by an asterick * for head of household, followed by lower case first name and initial, if given, for each person residing in the household; other surnames of those living within the household are capitalized also, but only the head of household is preceded by the asterick *.
3. Age, sex, occupation/trade of each person given; the color of residents in Madison Township was white; therefore, it was decided to delete that information which would be an unnecessary repetition; in the case of children, the census taker may have listed "at home".
4. Householders possessing a valued real estate are indicated by the symbol r; householders possessing valued personal property are indicated by the symbol p; money values can be found by a personal check of the microfilm itself.
5. An individual's birthplace by state or country is listed by abbreviation (see key to abbreviations).
6. A surname index is included with the surname of not only the heads of household but also those listed within the house whose surname is different from the head; all surnames are followed by the page number of the microfilm page within Madison Township. When using this please check the entire census page as some surnames are found in multiple spots.
7. An alphabetical list is included of children born in the 12 months prior to the 1870 census, the page number on which it is found, and the month of the birth. This is followed by an alphabetical list of marriages which were indicated on the census form having taken place in the 12 months prior to the census enumeration.

If an individual wishes to take a personal look at the census roll, he/she can find additional information not listed here which includes: physical impairments, whether parents were foreign born, whether the enumerated males were eligible to vote, and whether the individual attended school during the census year. This transcription of the census is not to be considered a substitute for looking at the actual microfilm roll.

The microfilm census roll for Madison Township was difficult to read in spots. In all cases the surnames were checked with other sources to make sure the transcription was correct. These other sources were: list of personal property owners of Madison township 1867; Williams County, Ohio, Atlases, 1864 & 1874; biographical sketches within several county histories; and, Williams County, Ohio Marriages, Volumes I-III (1824-1868). There were some surnames that were obviously misspelled by the census taker; therefore, family researchers should be careful to check various surname spellings.

Aside from the obvious family data that can be gleaned from this census, I found the following occupational statistics to be of interest in regard to Madison township:

160	Farmers	4	Domestic servants
64	Farm laborers	2	Coopers
6	Carpenters	2	Physicians
5	Blacksmiths
5	Teachers
5	Wagonmakers

There was one person who fulfilled the occupation/trade for each of the following: cabinet maker, dry goods merchant, engineer, harnessmaker, milliner, shoemaker, and stonemason.

Pamela Pattison Lash

Compiler's Preface

Next to local vital records, the best source of genealogical data about specific individuals is the federal decennial census. At the present time there is no state-wide index to the 1870 Ohio federal census. With this in mind the 1870 Williams County, Ohio, Federal Census including surname index was chosen to be transcribed into manuscript form township by township by the Williams County Genealogical Society to serve as a useful tool in family research.

The 1870 federal census for Williams County, Ohio was extracted from National Archives Microfilm Roll #1282, housed at the Bryan Public Library, Bryan, Ohio. The following information is included in this census extraction:

1. Page number written by census taker found at the top left of each microfilm frame, the date of the enumeration, the township, and the nearest post office for residents on each microfilm page.
2. Capitalized surnames preceded by an asterick * for head of householld, followed by lower case first name and initial, if given, for each person residing in the household; other surnames of those living within the household are capitalized also, but only the head of household is preceded by the asterick *.
3. Age, sex, occupation/trade of each person given; the color of residents in Millcreek Township was white; therefore, it was decided to delete that information which would be an unnecessary repetition; in the case of children, the census taker may have listed 'at home'.
4. Householders possessing a valued real estate are indicated by the symbol r; householders possessing valued personal property are indicated by the symbol p; money values can be found by a personal check of the microfilm itself.
5. An individual's birthplace by state or country is listed by abbreviation (see key to abbreviations).
6. A surname index is included with the surname of not only the heads of household but also those listed within the house whose surname is different from the head; all surnames are followed by the page number of the microfilm page within Millcreek Twp. When using this please check the entire census page as some surnames are found in multiple spots.
7. An alphabetical list is included of children born in the 12 months prior to the 1870 census, the page number on which it is found, and the month of the birth. This is followed by an alphabetical list of marriages which were indicated on the census form having taken place in the 12 months prior to the census enumeration.

If an individual wishes to take a personal look at the census roll, he/she can find additional information not listed here which includes: physical impairments, whether parents were foreign born, whether the enumerated males were eligible to vote, and whether the individual attended school during the census year. This transcription of the census is not to be considered a substitute for looking at the actual microfilm roll.

The microfilm census roll for Millcreek Township was difficult to read in spots. In all cases the surnames were checked with other sources to make sure the transcription was correct. These other sources were: list of personal property owners of Millcreek Township 1867; Williams County, Ohio, Atlases, 1864 & 1874; biographical sketches within several county histories; and, Williams County, Ohio Marriages, Volumes I-III (1824-1868). There were some surnames that were obviously misspelled by the census taker; therefore, family researchers should be careful to check various surname spellings.

Aside from the obvious family data that can be gleaned from this census, I found the following occupational statistics to be of interest in regard to Millcreek Township:

160	Farmers	4	Domestic servants
64	Farm laborers	2	Coopers
6	Carpenters	2	Physicians
5	Blacksmiths
5	Teachers
5	Wagonmakers

There was one person who fulfilled the occupation/trade for each of the following: cabinet maker, dry goods merchant, engineer, harnessmaker, milliner, shoemaker, and stonemason.
